New Novel by Loula Grace Erdman Deals With Pierces of Panhandle

A new book by Loula Grace Erdman, instructor in creative writing at West Texas State College, will be published August 17 by Dodd, Mead and Company of New York.

Titled "The Good Land," the novel continues the experiences of the Pierce family in the Texas Panhandle. A story of family loyalty, it is directed to middle teenage girls.

Two other books by Miss Erdman have dealt with the Pierce family, but this story belongs to Carolyn, the youngest of the family in the earlier books, "The Wind Blows Free" and "The Wide Horizon."

In Miss Erdman's dedication to the novel, she says it is "For all the young people who have suggested that I write a book about Carolyn, but most especially for Martha."

The Hughes Family
Martha is Martha Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Hughes. Hughes is head of the Geology Department at WT and Curator of Paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Mrs. Hughes is better known as Pollyanna Hughes, correspondent to the Amarillo papers for the Canyon area, and the person who types the finished manuscript to Miss Erdman's books.

Many letters were received from young people asking for a third book after "The Wide Horizon" was published. The young people wanted Carolyn to be the heroine of the new book.

United Church Women Convene Here Friday

The annual summer meeting of the United Church Women will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the All Saint's Episcopal Church of Canyon.

Planned is a short business meeting, highlighted by an election of officers for the coming two years. Rev. Joel Tredwell of Hereford, vicar of All Saint's Church, will deliver an address to the women attending the semi-annual meeting.

Miss Erdman hesitated, however, until she received a letter from Martha.

Award Winners

The author's first adult novel, "The Years of the Locust" won the Dodd, Mead-Redbook prize, while "The Wind Blows Free" was winner of the Dodd, Mead-American Girl Literary Award.

The dust jacket of "The Good Land" states:

"This story belongs to Carolyn, the 'baby' of the family in the two earlier books, 'The Wind Blows Free' and 'The Wide Horizon.' Now Carolyn is fifteen and she is finding out how difficult it sometimes is for the youngest child of a big family to grow up. Things are complicated by her loyal—and misunderstood—intervention in the floundering romance of her loved sister Katie, her secret efforts to help some pathetic homesteaders and her newly-found awareness of Jim Foster, the neighbor boy who loves 'the good land,' the Panhandle, as much as she does."

ASC Vote Due On Committees

Members of the newly-appointed community election boards will meet Thursday to nominate 10 persons for the ballots in the election of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committeemen.

The 10 persons from each of seven communities will be nominated for the five places on each ballot, Doyle G. Thomas, secretary of the County ASC Committee, reported.

The election, which is slated for September 8, will be handled by mail. Ballots will be mailed each farmer about August 28, Thomas said, giving the farmers about a week or 10 days to return their marked ballots.

Brazzil Presided

The community election boards were appointed July 27, when the County Election Board met in the ASC office with John Brazzil, county agent and chairman of the county board, presiding.

Named to the Community Election Board from Canyon were Ervin Meyer, Charles Gerald, Clem Dugan, Bill Schuette, and W. A. Patke.

Appointed in Sunnyhill-Fairview were Melvin Schaeffer, R. O. Strickland, Joe B. Wise, Clayton Devin, and John Robinson. In Jowell, Eugene Bonds, John Butler, Melvin K. (Pete) Leavitt, Homer Kinsey, and Jimmy Dietz were appointed.

Umbarger Appointments
Appointments from Umbarger were Ben Buecker, Joe Wieck, Max Hoffman, Max Koch, and Vincent Friemel. Howard Fuqua, Leroy Lamb, Don Kimbell, B. R. Sparks, and Rue R. Wells were named in Highland.

Appointed from Trigg-Zita were Lewis Hales, Cecil Winn, H. R. Fulton, Ralph Robinson, and H. W. Burrus. In Stone Floyd Thomas, H. H. Ladehoff, Jim Fletcher, Joe Turpin, and W. T. Smoot, Sr., were appointed.

Named to tabulate the ballots were Ervin Meyer, chairman, Ben Buecker, vice chairman, and Lewis Hales, member. Alternates are Howard Fuqua and Floyd Thomas.

The committeemen elected at the vote will take office the first of October, Thomas said.

Amarillo Firm Gets Job Of Building High School

Members of the school board of Canyon Independent School District had a busy night Tuesday as they:

- 1) Awarded the contract for construction of a new high school;
- 2) Set the tax rate for the coming year;
- 3) Awarded teachers and the administrative staff a salary increase; and
- 4) Hired two new teachers.

The Floyd Richards Construction Company of Amarillo, was awarded the contract for construction of the high school with a bid of $831,037.

Gym Not Included

A new gymnasium will not be built at the present time. The school board estimated that an additional $125,000 is needed to complete the school, and there was not enough money in the $1 million bond issue to cover the cost of a new gymnasium.

The $125,000 is needed for the cost of the land for the school, furniture for the school, sewage facilities, street paving, architect's fee, and other items.

Second low bidder on the school was R. G. Farrell Construction Company of Odessa, with a bid of $848,121. Farrell would have been the low bidder had the gym been built.

Because of the current steel strike most of the board members were concerned with the anticipated completion date of the school.

Ready Next Year

Richards said the classroom unit of the school would be ready for occupancy by September 1, 1960, because "we don't anticipate any delay in obtaining steel for the project," he said.

The new school, to be built four blocks south and one block east of the present high school site, will be completely air conditioned.

It will be built in units. Unit A will house the classroom and administrative offices. Unit B will contain the auditorium and cafeteria, and the third unit will include the vocational agriculture and shop areas. The gymnasium was a separate unit in the plans, as drawn by William C. Townes and Associates of Amarillo, architects for the project.

Teachers Get Raise

Board members voted to give classroom teachers and the administrative staff whose salary is based on the state schedule a $100 per year salary increase. Teachers in the Canyon school next year will be receiving $300 per year over the state minimum instead of $200.

New Tax Rate

The new tax rate for property owners in the school district was set Tuesday at $1.75 per $100 valuation by the board. The rate was based on a valuation in the district of $19,750,000.

Lee Foster, tax assessor-collector for the school district, told the board that 37 property owners appeared Monday at the hearing held by the Board of Equalization. The board held the hearing to hear complaints on the tax on farm improvements. Some 650 property owners were notified of the hearing.

Two Teachers Hired

Two Canyon residents were hired by the board members to teach here next year. Employed were Mrs. Dorothy McClure to teach the seventh grade and Claude Money to teach the sixth grade. Mrs. J. E. Miller, a seventh grade teacher, was given a year's leave by the board to recover her health.

Practice Teaching Unit Set for School

Canyon High School will have one of seven area experimental units of the Texas Student Teacher Center Project when classes begin this fall.

The two-year project, operated jointly by West Texas State College, six area public school systems, and the Fund for the Advancement of Education, will provide facilities and local supervision for teacher education students at WT through 1960-61.

No Assignments Made

Personnel will be assigned to the Canyon experimental unit sometime in the next two weeks. Subjects and grades involved will be determined by the personnel assigned.

An experimental unit will consist of five supervising teachers and five student teachers each semester. Each supervising teacher will be given one-fifth of a load credit to allow time for a conference each day with the student teacher. A load credit is the number of courses, normally five, taught by the teacher.

Cooperating public schools have agreed to furnish one extra staff member for each experimental unit. Other cooperating schools are Hereford, Tulia, White Deer, Dumas, and Amarillo.

Smith Will Direct

Dr. Emmitt Smith, director of teacher education and student personnel services at WT, will direct the project, which will test the hypothesis that student teachers will demonstrate aspects of the 'good teacher,' provided they are given planned experiences in the six pilot student-teacher centers operated cooperatively by public schools and colleges.

The program is intended to show cost of the student teaching program and to study wisdom of this type of training program to give in-service training to student teachers.

In the spring of 1960, 15 conferences will be held around the state to evaluate the project.

The project will study the role of public school and college in the student-teacher program and the cost of the program to both.

'Wait'll Next Year' Jaycees Cry As First Show Deemed Successful

Jubilant Jaycees this week were pointing to next year as the results of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's First Annual Quarterhorse Show were announced by show manager John Carlile.

So successful was the show, Carlile said, that "We hope to develop it into a three or four day affair, with a rodeo."

At least one group of Jaycees has already started laying plans for next year, planning to add additional events to the show and seeking ways to keep the entrants and owners overnight in Canyon.

As pointed out, however, this presents several problems. One of the biggest problems is providing adequate stable space for the horses.

106 Horses Entered

Carlile reported that 106 horses from five states were entered in the show, held Saturday at West Texas State College Rodeo Arena.

This flood of entries jumped the show from Class D — the rating given all first-year shows — to Class B, the rating accorded most of the major quarterhorse shows. There are only nine Class A shows in the world, the show manager said.

Winners in the various events were: Junior reining: King Sukey, owned by Jack Adkins, 73 of 80 points; senior reining: Retat, owned by Johnny Burson, Silverton, 70.

Cutting Contest

Junior cutting: Carbon's Girl, owned by Johnny Spitzer of Sagerton, 74 of 80 points; senior cutting: Kiowa Dusty, owned by Elmer Durfee of Logan, Okla., 70; open cutting: Carbon's Girl, 75.

Mares: Skipper's Lauro, owned by J. K. Fulton of Lubbock, grand champion; Showdown Babe, owned by O. G. Hill of Hereford, reserve champion; Billy Lee Hill, owned by O. G. Hill, '59; Skipper's Robin, owned by J. K. Fulton, '58; Rose of Tex, owned by Virgil Wech of Amarillo, '55; Skipper's Lauro, owned by J. K. Fulton, '54 or before.

For geldings, L. S. (Slim) Johnston of Canyon took first place for '55 or before geldings with Ace's Top, and Dusty Billy, owned by G. W. Glasco of Dalhart won for '56 or later geldings.

Whisper W Wins

Whisper W, owned by Hank Wiscamp of Alamosa, was judged the best produce of dam, while Showdown, owned by O. G. Hill, was the best get of sire.

New Housing Authority Directors Appointed by City Commissioners

Three new directors of the City of Canyon Housing Authority were appointed Thursday night at a special meeting of the City Commission.

Appointed for two-year terms of office were Tom Brasher, Dwayne Howard, and J. D. Byrd. The three men succeed T. A. Black, Alvin McDonald, and M. L. Sherrod.

Bill Downing and Wesley Cox serve on the authority until next year.

Petition for Paving

In other action, the commission to look under consideration a petition for paving two blocks of Sixth Avenue, between 26th and 27th Streets.

The city fathers ordered the engineering aspects of the paving "checked out" and the property owners notified of the city's policy in paving streets. Mayor Charles Donnell explained that the city's policy is to furnish the engineering and pay for the radius of curbs at intersections.

This leaves most of the actual cost of paving to the property owners whose land is adjacent to the street.

Cost is $173

Herschell Stevens, city secretary, said that under the existing contract with the paving contractor, a typical 50 foot lot adjacent to the street to be paved would cost the property owner $173.

No decision on the paving will be reached until the commission's orders have been complied with. It is expected that the issue will be discussed at the next commission meeting, scheduled for August 10 in City Hall.

And It Keeps Paying

We received a handout from the U. S. Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department last week, along with a card which stated: "Use of this material as frequently as possible will be appreciated. Without such voluntary advertising support it would be difficult to make the Savings Bonds program the success it must be to help maintain a strong and stable economy. . . ."

It's possible today to invest your money on any street corner at better than three and a quarter percent interest, which is what is paid on savings bonds.

Most savings institutions nowadays are paying at least three and a half percent interest, while some have upped the ante to four percent.

Most corporate stocks will return anywhere from six to ten percent on your money.

Most municipal bonds will pay you at least four percent on your money, and the dividend is tax exempt.

Yet the federal government can only issue savings bonds to us which draw a nominal three and one-quarter percent interest—if we hold the bonds almost nine years. If we hold the bonds longer than three years, we get a meager three percent interest rate.

Who's to blame for this modest rate for savings bonds? The U. S. Congress.

Congress was asked back the first of June to allow the Treasury Department to raise to three and three-quarters percent, but so far nothing has been done.

Something has to be done, however, if the Treasury Department is to maintain the savings bond program. As Financial Analyst Sylvia Porter puts it, "No matter what Congress decides to do . . . it must hike the savings bond rate ceiling. The savings bond program is losing ground, is getting hard to defend."

That the Treasury Department recognizes advertising as a factor in whatever success the savings bond program has had is proof of that Madison Avenue adage, "Advertising doesn't cost, it pays." (O. G.)

The Villian: Inflation

Many a city dweller, when he comes scowling away from a grocery store check stand these days, has the distinct impression that the farmer never had it so good. Apparently, he has had, though, and not so long ago.

Maybe the man behind the plow isn't poverty stricken, but things haven't been going as well for him this year as they might have. His city cousin will find this hard to figure in view of the steady rise in retail prices of farm products. But the farmer's complaint is not over the price he gets for the things he grows. Statistics for the first half show that his gross income equaled that for the first half of 1958, which was a good year for him financially. His net income, however, was way off. Across the nation the decline from last year's total farm net from the first half mounted to a billion dollars.

The villian, of course, is rising costs of production. The price has gone up since last year on practically everything the farmer has to buy. The result has been a record high in production costs, and since there hasn't been a parallel increase in the prices the farmer gets for what he sells, he is settling for reduced profits.

As if the cost-price squeeze weren't enough, to this has been added the pains of a public relations squeeze. The same factors that have forced his costs up—more expensive labor and materials—have boosted the costs of processing his products and preparing them for market after they leave the farm. This has been largely responsible for the higher store prices, yet the farmer invariably gets most of the blame for the growth of the consumer's grocery bill.

This is an injustice for which many a farmer feels his soil bank payment and his price support loan check don't fully compensate. (Ft. Worth Star-Telegram)

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

George Dolan in The Ft. Worth Star-Telegram: "In my soliloquy," confesses E. C. Bentley of Stanton. "it has finally dawned on me that this thing you fellows have been talking about in this 'lizard-wizard' business is not a thing but a regular old hornet frog."

"Ah, what excitement and joy those little fellers provided my lonely youthful years! Subjected to every torment conceivable to the sub-teen mind, these ugly little monsters were an unending source of adventure and play-like."

"But I should have known that some smart aleck would change their name since my dawn and early morning graced the sands and clays of Knox County—and along with the memories of hornet frogs comes the nostalgic memories of kingbottom chairs, trachelors, bob wire, and the like."

"Those were the days when kids gathered and sold skeet beans to buy lickwish . . . the days when I first noticed that my dad was getting ball-headed . . . and when you could hear cow-oats howl on lonely nights."

"Tell those fellows to please let's keep calling spades spades! Tell your curator friend that that's as bad as calling a Sand Hill Crane a goose!"

Bascom Nelson in The Castro County News: Two second-graders were standing on their school playground during recess when a jet plane flew over.

"Look," said one lad, "it's a BX-50." The other child said, "No, it's a BX51. You can tell by its wing sweep."

"You're right," the first youngster conceded, "it's not going more than 760 miles per hour," either, because it didn't break the sound barrier." On this point they both agree. "It's amazing the pressure that develops on those jets when they go into a dive," the second boy remarked, "almost 1,200 pounds per square inch."

At this point the bell called the children back into the classroom.

The first child turned to the other. "There's the bell," he sighed. "Let's go back in and finish stringing those darned old beads."

Broader Market Sought Through New Wheat Uses

Seeking to broaden markets for wheat, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has modified wheat flour into products having potential as thickening agents, adhesives, and coating, and sizes for paper and textile manufacture.

The USDA's Agricultural Research Service has demonstrated that chemically modified flour mixes readily with water to form a free-flowing paste—a property desirable for such industrial processes as the continuous machine-coating of paper.

The modified flours are similar to each other, and differ from ordinary wheat flours in that they mix more readily with water to form paste, and in that these pastes have less tendency to thicken and gel. They also can be stored satisfactorily at a moisture content of five percent or less.

Give the flour-flusher all the rope he wants—sooner or later he will hang himself.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS By BOYCE HOUSE

That interest in O. Henry is still keen, nearly 50 years after his death, is shown by the fact that the two copies of his latest biography in the Austin Public Library were taken out 38 times in 1958. The book is Gerald Langford's "Alias O. Henry." The fact that O. Henry lived in Austin as a young man and the further fact that the biographer is a member of the faculty of the University of Texas may have given the book an appeal greater than in other cities but, allowing for these factors, it is evident that many people find the life story of the short story writer of real interest.

There have been many surmises as to the origin of William Sidney Porter's nom de plume. The one oftenest encountered is that it was derived from the name of an official in the prison where Porter served a term for embezzlement—a charge of which many believe he was not guilty. But Porter linked his name and the pseudonym, O. Henry, in an inscription in an Austin album in 1886, which was long before his tragedy.

When I went to Eastland in the summer of 1921, a predecessor as editor of the Daily Oil Belt News had been Hec. A. McEachin (pronounced, approximately, "Mc-Cann") and some of the publicity articles and publications still came addressed to him as the editor.

It was not until years later that I learned that he had been connected with O. Henry's magazine, the "Rolling Stone." The publication announced that H. A. McEachin was "associated in the business and management of this paper." The association was brief for, only four issues later, the career of the paper came to an end. I met Mc Eachin only one time and that when he paid a short visit to the Oil Belt News office along about 1923. I recall him as heavy-set and as smoking a pipe. Had I known then that he had been O. Henry's companion, he would have been pried with questions. Mc Eachin, being a newspaperman, doubtless could have told much more than did the untrained observers of O. Henry's Austin days. So far as I know, Mc Eachin never wrote down his impressions and experiences and so the information is lost.

Measuring land will be made easier and more accurate next year. We have been advised that new aerial maps of Randall County were taken about two months ago. We will have these maps in time for wheat measurements this winter. We have been using maps taken in 1953 and due to highway construction and residential development there were numerous line changes on them. The new maps will show how Randall County has changed during the past six years. The change is much more than most people realize.

The time is drawing near when ASC Committeemen will be elected to serve the next year. The County Election Board met on July 27 and named nominating committees for each of the seven communities. These nominating committees will meet Thursday, August 6, to select the nominees for committeemen in each community. Ballots will be mailed to all farmers on August 28. They will have until September 8 to return them to the ASC Office. The County Election Board is composed of John Brazzil, county agent, chairman; Joe Batson, unit conservationist, SCS, Ray Debenport, F. H. A. supervisor, and Roger B. Gist, Jr., president of the Randall County Farm Bureau.

Randall County has 1,013 farms. Of this number, 883 of them have wheat allotments and 201 cotton allotments. Cropland in the county is 331,510 acres. Our 1959 wheat allotment is 135,556 acres and the cotton allotment is 2,053.8 acres. A total of 116 farms have conservation reserve contracts. Acres in these contracts amount to 22,409.2.

We have commented in this column before on the big interest shown by farmers this year in controlling bindweed. A check of our records bears us out on this. Forty-five farmers have applied 1,257 gallons of benzoic acid to bindweed patches under the Agricultural Conservation Program. This is a sizeable increase over the bindweed control practices carried out last year. Farmers following bindweed control measures are to be commended. This problem is one of our bigger ones and there is no doubt that bindweed is a serious threat to every farm in the county.

MRS. STANTON KING ELLIOTT

Nuptial Vows Solemnized in Olton For Linda Franks - Stan Elliott

The First Baptist Church of Olton was the scene of the marriage of Linda Jean Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franks of Olton and Stanton King Elliott, of Canyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elliott of Happy.

The service was read by the Rev. W. C. Hadley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, before an arch of greenery accented by candelabra bearing white tapers and arrangements of gladioli.

Traditional Music Used

Traditional nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Hardy Fugate of Lubbock, soloist, and Harold Carson, organist.

Mrs. Danny Smith of Amarillo was matron-of-honor and was attired in a white silk organza sheath trimmed with embroidery and edged with satin around the neck and sleeves. A white satin sash draped the front of the bodice and extended to a wide drape in the back. She carried an aqua nosegay of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Calvin Baker of Amarillo and Miss Vondell Germany of Petersburg, who were bridesmaids, wore dresses fashioned identically to that of the matron-of-honor.

Serves As Best Man

Ross Elliott of Happy, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Phil Magness and Tommy Womack of Happy, and ushers were Carl and Carol Sims of Happy.

The bride wore a gown of white Alencon lace designed with a Sabrina neckline appliqued with sequin-sparked lace and full-length sleeves tapered at the wrist. The full skirt fell into scallops at the hemline and extended into a chapel-train. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins formed a headpiece for her chapel-length veil.

Rev. Price Congratulates Group On Transformation of Sacred Hill

"I am here to congratulate you—all of you—for transforming this sacred hill into a place of beauty—and doing it for God. There is a lot of ugliness today in the world and it is fitting that as Christians you are doing earthly things in a heavenly manner; making this sacred place where we lay our beloved dead a place of beauty for the eye... and now for the ear."

Those were the words of Rev. Donald Price, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon, as he held a short service Sunday at Dreamland Cemetery at the dedication ceremonies of the "Magne-Bell" instrument.

The carillon is a gift to the Dreamland Cemetery Association from Mrs. E. D. Harrell, in memory of her husband.

Jerry LaGrone, cemetery manager, officially accepted the carillon and plaque on behalf of the association.

The dedication ceremony was conducted at the recently-completed cemetery chapel, which houses the carillon.

The Best Thermometer "In many respects a cemetery is the best thermometer of a community's concern and morale, Rev. Price continued. "When a cemetery grows up in weeds, headstones missing and knocked down — a place of ugliness — death becomes

Mrs. Stewart Writes of Trip To New State, Pacific Coast

(Mrs. W. J. Stewart has just returned from a three-week vacation in Alaska. Her report on the trip follows. Editor.)

By MRS. W. J. STEWART I left Bantiff Air Base at 10 p. m. June 20 and arrived in Sitka, Alaska, at 2 p. m. June 21 to visit my daughter, Mrs. Lorena (Hopkins) Roberts, her husband, and their small son. My daughter is a nurse in the native hospital in Mt. Edgecumbe, just across the Sitka strait.

The trip over by boat is not a long ride. You could not buy a thing on Mt. Edgecumbe island.

First Flag Flown Sitka is where the first American flag flew over Alaska on October 18, 1867, shortly after Alaska was purchased from Russia for $7,200,000. Sitka was then the capital of Alaska and was until 1912, when the government moved the capital to Juneau.

Mt. Edgecumbe is just across the Sitka strait. Population is 4,000 native Alaskan Indians, a very friendly people. A large number of Americans are employed on this island, operated by the U. S.

There are great catches of king salmon, halibut, and shrimp on the island, a great world market.

Wild Flowers Grow From the coast and island waterways, there were the most beautiful wild flowers and berries. I had a wonderful visit in the home of the totem pole, Sitka.

Mt. Edgecumbe hospital was built by U. S. for the L. B. Alaskan natives. There is a lot of industry on these islands. The planes land and take-off by waterway.

I had a wonderful time fishing, boating and looking at those big whales that showed up on the water. I was lucky to catch one of those fish on the trip. What a thrill!

July 4 Activities I was happy to be present on the July 4 celebration when they raised the 49-star flag over the state of Alaska and shot some big cannons from the old ship up there at Sitka. The Alaskan governor, Gov. Egan, and his wife, along with several celebrities were there. I had great pleasure in conversing with them.

After a three-week visit, back to Canyon I headed. My husband, W. J. Stewart, met me in Seattle July 11. We visited in Washington and Canada for one week, enjoying wonderful weather, beautiful flowers, and wild fruit. We also went on the fish harbor where some of the largest fish are being caught.

Time came too soon to start home. We enjoyed wonderful scenery all the way through the mountains. So glad to arrive home again July 21.

Shower Honors Suzanne Lemons

Miss Suzanne Lemons, bride-elect of Gene Rogers, was complimented Friday evening with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Marion Higdon.

Approximately fifty guests were received between the appointed hours of seven until nine o'clock by Mrs. Higdon, Mrs. Ellis Lemons, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Carl F. Rogers, mother of the bridegroom-elect and the honoree.

A decorative arrangement of artificial rosebuds in a milk glass bowl, the hostesses' gift to the honoree, centered the refreshment table which was laid with a white cutwork cloth over pink. Mrs. Doris Gillham, aunt of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Nina White presided at the crystal punch bowl.

Officiating at the guest book were the bridegroom-elect's sisters, Miss Wanda Rogers and Miss Gayle Rogers. Mrs. Houston Bright furnished the background music.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wayland Angel, Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. Glen Dowlen, Mrs. J. L. Gilmore, Mrs. C. L. Gordon-Cummings, Mrs. Crews Henry, Mrs. Marvel Kirbie, Mrs. J. L. Matthews, Mrs. D. A. Nicholas, Mrs. J. R. Parker, Mrs. Rae Walters, Mrs. White and Mrs. Higdon.

ushers and groomsmen.

The bride, given by her father, wore a white lace and silk net gown, designed with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar and full-length sleeves tapering to the wrists. The full skirt featured an overskirt of lace with side draping. A silk net veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls, and the bride carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

Wedding Supper Follows

A wedding supper followed in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride, a graduate of Canyon High School, is employed by Dr. John Austin. The bridegroom attended Amarillo public schools and West Texas State College.

Their home is at 400-C Kentucky, Amarillo.

The man who has had a personal introduction to misfortune seldom laughs at the misfortunes of others.

Sunday morning we awoke to a miracle. It was seven o'clock, a wonderful hour for waking up naturally, rested and refreshed. The day was still gentle, with only a promise of summer warmth. The golden sun had projected a tree's shadow on the east wall of the house, statue-still.

Through the open windows the Sunday quietness almost breathed. The grass and flowers, the bees and cicadas were still asleep. Remote noises — a truck changing gears blocks away, a mourning dove's chant — seemed to emphasize the neighborhood's peace. In the backyard the sparrows twittered happily over life, liberty and the pursuit of worms.

We did not move for a blessed half-hour, enjoying that rare sense of feeling time stand still. The tensions that we build up for ourselves most of the year had vanished. Threats of atomic and nuclear war were mere headlines from another world; of taxes and poverty, a made-up television show. And all were outside the experience of this glorious day.

Under such a spell, we can actually believe that this is the real thing. The sun, the flowers and trees, the fresh morning air — these blessings are universal. And people everywhere respond in much the same way to nature's generous gifts. It's the tensions, the fears and the greediness among countries and men that dim the picture, garble the true story.

The so-called language barrier is more than a confusion of tongues, we thought. It's a curtain of doubt and misunderstanding that prevents our seeing into the hearts of people in other lands. Once we remove that curtain, surely all parts of the puzzle will fit into place.

...paired for pleasant living!

Like apple pie and ice cream an electric dishwasher and electric water heater go together. Your dishwasher does the dishes "on the double" — you're out of the kitchen in half the time. And you break fewer dishes, keep your hands lovelier, and keep those dirty dishes out of sight — in the dishwasher — between loads. Plenty of hot water is what your dishwasher wants — and gets — from an electric water heater. You can put that electric water heater right where you want it — where you use the most hot water — because it has no vents — no fumes. Yes, the electric dishwasher and water heater go together. Try one now — add the other later. You'll like them both.

ATTENTION, HUSBANDS

Wouldn't you spend 1½¢ a day to give your wife lovely hands? Of course you would — especially if you could get the dishes done for that price, too. You can't! But the electric dishwasher is a bargain, too, with a big bargain rate.

MRS. BARRY JOHN GOULD

Florence Coffee-John Gould Wed Sunday in J. A. Hill Chapel

In a double ring ceremony in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel at 5:30 Sunday, Florence Marie Coffee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herschel Coffee of Canyon, became the bride of Barry John Gould of Vancouver, British Columbia, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gould of Sydney, Australia.

Rev. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated. Arrangements of white gladioli and talisman roses were used on the central altar, behind which rose a pyramid effect of white candles. At the ends of the altar were large spiral candelabra bearing amber votive lights. Large baskets of white gladioli and talisman roses flanked the chancel.

The bridal aisle was marked with arrangements of talisman roses nestled in full white satin bows.

Miss Gaume Plays

Miss Malida Gaume, organist, played for the processional "Sonata, opus 26," by Beethoven and for the recessional "Symphony No. 1, fourth movement" by Brahms. Mrs. Bruce Winn sang Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "How Do I Love Thee," arranged by Ellas Rose Wright, and "Minnelied," a fifteenth century German melody.

Mrs. John R. Passero, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was fashioned of champagne silk organza over taffeta, with scoop neckline and sleeveless bodice. Organza flowers at the torso waistline accented the bouffant street-length skirt. Her shell hat and sandals were of matching champagne. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses arranged in crescent style.

John R. Passero of El Paso was best man. Sharing the ushering duties were James D. Slack of Archer City and Clarence E. Thompson of Canyon.

Given by Father

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of flowing silk taffeta with a floor-length bouffant skirt. Alencon lace trimmed with sparkling sequins and pearls enhanced the scoop neckline of the bodice and was repeated at the torso waistline.

Her fingertip veil was of illusion daintily fastened to a scalloped headpiece of Alencon lace trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried an imported linen handkerchief which was a gift of the bridegroom's mother. Her bridal bouquet was a crescent arrangement of stephanotis, centered with fluted white gladioli.

Reception Follows

A reception followed in the home of the bride.

The serving table was laid with a floor-length white silk cloth and centered with a floral arrangement of talisman roses and candles. Miss Sally Jennings and Miss Ellen Slack, cousins of the bride, were at the guest book.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a beige embroidered linen sheath dress with matching over jacket. Her accessories were of bone kid and the natural straw hat was trimmed with coco brown and white flowers. Her corsage was white gladioli.

Mrs. Gould was graduated from Canyon High School and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Phi Beta Kappa. She received a Master of Arts degree at Duke University before spending a year in Australia as a Rotary Foundation Fellow. At the time of her marriage, she had completed a summer term as instructor at Amarillo College.

Mr. Gould was educated in Australia in the field of engineering and prior to moving to Canada was employed by Qantas, the Australian Overseas Airline. He is currently employed with an engineering consultancy in Vancouver, where the couple will be at home after Aug. 9.

On the evening preceding the wedding, Mrs. C. E. Thompson, Mrs. James Jennings and Mrs. Louise Bonds, aunts of the bride, entertained the wedding party in the Thompson home in Canyon.

Children's Literature Explained To Teachers at Reading Confab

There definitely is a literature for children, and many of the books written especially for children are literature of the highest quality, a speaker told about 350 teachers attending the seventh annual Reading Conference last Tuesday at West Texas State College.

Miss Doris Gates, an instructor in library science and children's literature at the University of San Francisco, and an author of children's books, discussed the values of some of the better known works for youngsters. She defended children's books as "more than tools for teachers and toys by which parents entertain their children."

Miss Gates led off the session talking on "Humor and Children's Books." Following her address, Dr. Walter Loban, professor at the University of California, spoke on "Reading as an All-School Responsibility."

Addressed Session

Group meetings were scheduled and the final general session featured an address by Miss Loretta Antl, professor at Wesleyan College, on "A New Program in Literature Reading." Sessions concluded Thursday.

"Children's literature gives to its young readers a sense of the continuity of man's life on this planet," Miss Gates said. "These books are important because they deal with the strivings and hopes of men."

A program for developing reading skills in all grades was outlined by Miss Antl, who said that the mechanics of reading enables one to get the facts, which are raw materials for thinking.

"Reading is more than just calling words," she said, "but it is a whole process of complex skills. Reading is a book talking to you, and reading is still the most important source of information despite the advances of other means of communication."

Reading ability is basic to most things in life, Miss Antl said. "We can't live on our original learning. We must keep pace by adapting and adjusting to the rapidly changing social scene."

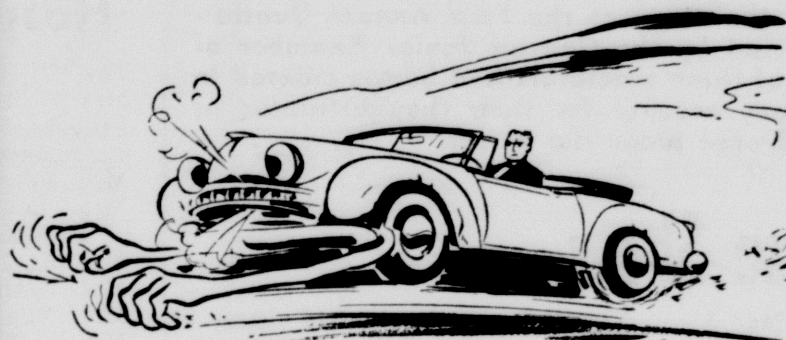

Presiding at Wednesday morning's general session was Mrs. Edna Miller of Corpus Christi, second vice president of TAIR. The Rev. Allan Brockway, director of the Methodist Student Center, gave the invocation. Ernest Courington of Longview, TAIR secretary-treasurer, presided at the afternoon session.

Conference members attended a picnic in Palo Duro State Park Wednesday night. They were guests at a watermelon party Tuesday night and attended a special showing of "Reclining Figure," a comedy in the Branding Iron Theatre Tuesday night.

Chevy's the only car of the leading low-priced three that gives you the convenience of crank-operated vent windows. No awkward latches to fumble with . . . your knuckles and fingernails will appreciate it.

THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

brakes

Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time.

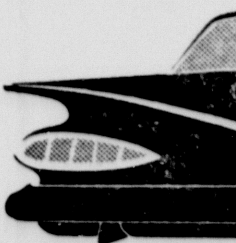

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

award-winning engines

The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines . . . for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness." And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.

full coil ride

You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

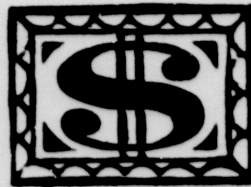

fresh styling

POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.

greater roominess

Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

bigger savings

Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide took the first two places in their class. Winning mileage: 22.38 m.p.g. And that, friends, took top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

higher trade-in

N.A.D.A.* Guide Books prove that your Chevrolet will keep its value. Chevy used car prices last year, for example, averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevrolet's field.

Collision Kills 2 Hereford Men

Two Hereford men were killed early Wednesday when the car in which they were riding collided with a truck about two miles west of Canyon on U.S. Highway 60.

Dead are Lee Roy Beaucamp, 47, driver of the car, and Roy Floyd Vaughn, 30.

The driver of the truck, Paul Cecil Canipe, 49, of Oklahoma City was treated and released at Neblett Hospital.

Highway Patrolman Gilbert Ray, who investigated the accident, said charges would be filed against Canipe after consulting with the district attorney.

Ray said apparently the driver of the truck had gone to sleep and was traveling on the wrong side of the highway. As the car swerved to avoid the collision, the driver of the truck awakened and jerked the truck back toward the right side of the highway. The two vehicles met off the pavement on the north side of the highway, Ray said.

The truck was going west and the car was traveling east when the accident occurred at 6:30 a. m.

Deputy Cracks 1955 Burglary

Persistence and hard work on the part of Deputy Lem Pounds and Randall County Sheriff L. S. Johnston's staff this week cleared up a series of burglaries on the Tri-State Construction Company dating back to mid-1955.

Wendell Shannon Loar, who at one time was a resident of Amarillo, has been charged with theft totaling over $50 by the sheriff's department. Loar is now lodged in jail in Austin on charges of forgery in that area.

The Tri-State Construction Company of South Amarillo was burglarized first in 1955, then hit again on November 22, 1956. Both times, entry was gained by removing a pane of glass from the restroom, then replacing it.

On the first trip, the burglars took a check protector and a typewriter, in the second job stole 53 company checks. Since that time, $1,000 in worthless checks has been passed in Randall County, Deputy Pounds said.

Leads gained through handwriting comparisons led to Loar's being charged with the theft. Sheriff Johnston reported that the department also has one other suspect, but would not divulge the name.

Savannah - - SS and NS

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

One-hundred and forty years ago the United States launched a brand new era when the SS Savannah was built and became the first steam-powered vessel to cross the Atlantic Ocean. The event signaled the beginning of the huge fleet of merchant vessels from every country which ply the ocean lanes today. The SS Savannah weighed 320 tons and could carry only enough coal and wood to power it for four days, relying on sails to complete the voyage from Savannah, Ga. to Liverpool, England.

Last week Mrs. Rogers and I were privileged to be present when this country embarked upon another notable, new era. The NS (nuclear ship) Savannah, the world's first nuclear powered merchant vessel, was launched at Camden, New Jersey. Having been more or less landlocked all our lives, it was a real thrill to see this gigantic atomic-powered ship slide down the ways after Mrs. Eisenhower had christened its prow with the customary bottle of champagne. The greater thrill, of course, was the knowledge that the age of atomic transportation had be-

Trials and Tests

Legislation authorizing the construction of the Savannah was passed by Congress in 1956, and the keel was laid a year ago. The trials and tests are expected to be completed in about six months, at which time the Savannah will be placed in limited cargo and passenger operation. It is expected this ship will be chartered to a commercial firm for regular maritime use sometime in 1961.

The following operational data is, I believe, most interesting. The Savannah weighs 12 thousand tons and can carry over 9 thousand tons of cargo at a normal speed of 21 knots and can, in addition, carry some 60 passengers. Its atomic reactor will supply power for the ship for some 3½ years on a single charge of uranium 235, which can take it around the world approximately 12 times.

The vessel will not be initially economically competitive, but neither was Edison's first light bulb. It is expected, however, that the launching of this great ship will hasten the day when the sea lanes of the earth are filled with ships employing the unleashed atom for peaceful purposes. As my good friend, Honorable Herbert Bonner, Chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries noted at the launching ceremonies: "With this ship, and with those which I hope will follow soon, we are casting our bread upon the waters, and I am sure the return will be a thousand fold."

Visitors

We had an unusual group of visitors from the Panhandle last week in Washington. These were the American Field Service Foreign Exchange students from other countries who have resided in the Panhandle the past year. Of the total 1,156 foreign students who have lived with American families in 45 states this last year, four of them were in the Panhandle.

We were honored with their visit to my office last week when they stopped off in Washington en route to their homes in Europe. The four students were as follows:

Miss Joelle Tillier-Laroche, who hails from France and has made her home in the past year with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson of 610 East Fifth Street in Hereford, where she attended Hereford High School.

Miss Dorritt Madsen, whose permanent home is Denmark. Dorritt lived with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blackburn at 2815 Ong Street in Amarillo and attended Amarillo High School.

Ernst Bonek has been in Amarillo this year, where he attended Tascosa High School while living with Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Krabbe of 4604 Plsen Boulevard. Ernst is from Austria.

Kjell Andberg has returned to his home in Norway after living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lile Bunch of 1323 Cleveland Street in Amarillo and attending Palo Duro High School.

All these young people were richly rewarded. I am sure, as were those in the Panhandle homes where they lived.

Happy Visitor

We appreciate seeing our good friend, George Schaeffer, from Happy last week. Schaeffer and his son, Sgt. Dean Schaeffer of the Air Force, were in Washington for a brief visit after vacationing the past month in some of the southern states. Sgt. Schaeffer has recently reported for his new duty assignment at Langley Field, Va.

Texas and the Panhandle were well represented and greatly honored last week. Boys Nation, which is under the worthy sponsorship of the American Legion, was in annual meeting in Washington. Each state sends two delegates to the conclave. One of those from Texas was Don Seamster from Borger. He paid us a visit, as did the Texas State Director of Boy's State, Dr. W. F. Haynie, also of Borger. The boys spend the week in Washington observing and participating in the federal government. They divide themselves into two political parties—the Nationalists and the Federalist—for purposes of debate and the affairs of state. Don performed his duties well. This is indicated by the fact that the Nationalist Party candidate, a California delegate, was elected to the Presidency of Boys Nation. They had a fine time, and gained considerable education. We certainly enjoyed seeing and visiting with Don and Dr. Haynie.

Rarely is history written by one who was an eye-witness to its making; even more rarely is history written by one who actually participated in the making of it. But rarest of all is that happy combination in which the one who made the history not only does later write it, but is also qualified as an historian. . . . Yet here in this history of the first half-century's development of West Texas State College is found that rarest of all combinations.
